

Havoc at Hogwarts

by sunny33

Someone is plotting in the Room of Requirement. Who is it and what are they planning?

none

Chapter 1 of 1

Someone is plotting in the Room of Requirement. Who is it and what are they planning?

Early Sunday morning, when all good students were still abed, there were two individuals sneaking around looking for mischief. Mischief was their middle name; as near-identical twins, they delighted in switching places just to torment people and cause havoc. They were currently lurking in the Room of Requirement, plotting their next act of terrorism.

Plan settled upon, they slipped into the Gryffindor common room and found what they needed; an untended pile of parchment and books, complete with a long, wordy Potions essay. Quickly, Twins A and E jumped into the essay, switching all the thens and thans.

Mischief managed!

A/N: This was written for Cat Feral, who read The Hogwarts Stalker and wanted more.

The marvellous Moreteadk betaed. If anyone has any more requests for grammar/spelling crime, I am open to suggestions!