Chapter 1 of 1

A new plague is affecting Hogwarts. Another in the Hogwarts Crime Series.

It started insidiously, one or two cases here and there, nothing anyone would consider commenting on. As time passed, the incidents increased, until it became obvious that there was a problem. They labelled it an epidemic, cautioned the students not to share study sessions, and fixed up cases as quickly as they appeared.

Nothing worked. Circumstances became so dire that eventually even the brightest witch of her age succumbed.

Hidden in the Forbidden Forest, the secret enclave of ellipsis points cheered at the news, high-fiving each other as they celebrated their success at invading all of the essays at Hogwarts!

A/N: Thanks to the wonderful ladyinthecloak, who looked this over for me.
