Just what is it that Severus loves about Harry...

Taste

Chapter 1 of 3

Just what is it that Severus loves about Harry...

A/N As always I own nothing of Potterverse. It all belongs to JK Rowling and others too numerous to mention. I make no money, nor is any required.

Severus loved the way Harry's kisses tasted after he'd had a few drinks with Ron.

There would be the hint of salt and vinegar, Firewhisky and, if it had been a Quidditch victory celebration, there'd also be the taste of a spicy kebab he'd eaten on the way home.

But the taste that Severus really loved was when he went down on his young lover: the taste of his cock as he took him fully into his greedy mouth. Yes, most of all he loved the taste of Harry's cum, a salty yet definitely delicious delicacy just for him

I would like to thank the wonderful Venturous1 and the delightful sc010f for looking over this little drabble. Ladies, you rock.

Touch

Severus loved the way Harry would lazily run his fingers down his chest. The lightest of touches always caused pleasure to course through his veins. When Harry kissed each and every scar upon his body, Severus would groan, which only encouraged Harry to pay more attention to the deeper scars. As if he could ease the pain that caused them.

But the touch that would send Severus to oblivion was the feel of Harry around his cock. It didn't matter if it was his delightfully tight arse as he pounded into him or Harry's warm, wet, soft mouth.

I would like to extend my thanks to sc010f aka Scoffy for being my beta for this endeavour. Girl, you rock.

Smell

Severus loved the mixture of musk and sandalwood that formed the base of Harry's aftershave. The smell alone could make his cock harden, even if Harry wasn't there. When Harry was away playing Quidditch, Severus would seek solace with one of Harry's t-shirts or jumpers, as long as it smelled of Harry.

However, the smell that sent Severus into heaven was the smell of sweat on Harry's body. Whether as a result of long languid love-making or because Harry had returned from a match without showering, it didn't matter, Severus simply couldn't get enough of the musky smell of Harry.

Again, I'd like to thank sc010f for being my beta. You rock.
