

Not Going to Portus Club

by Dreamy_Dragon

Anyone for a drink and a night of fun?

Sex on the Beach

Chapter 1 of 3

Anyone for a drink and a night of fun?

Dreamy pushes the door open and walks in, wearing a slinky red dress and her new heels. She slides onto an empty bar stool, secretly adjusting her dress to afford the bartender a good view. After she manages to catch Severus's attention, she bats her eyelashes at him and asks suggestively if he does Sex on the Beach. He only rolls his eyes before he turns around to mix the drink.

As he puts the glass in front of her, she notices the little slip of paper placed discreetly under it. She quickly reads it before she slips it into her handbag with a smile; then she turns around to take a look at the other people – it seems to be a very friendly place and she's glad she came.

Blond Temptation

Chapter 2 of 3

The fun continues...

The room has become very crowded now. Turning around, Dreamy notices the woman who had asked for tea earlier come back in. She's flanked by Severus and Remus. Both men look relaxed but a bit tired.

Severus walks over immediately to the gorgeous Notsosaintly and starts to whisper something in her ear. Judging by the way she blushes, it must be something good. On the other side of her the Weasley twins are busy seducing a beautiful redhead, or is she seducing them? It is hard to tell from where Dreamy is sitting, but they definitely look as if they are having a good time. She grins and takes out the piece of paper Severus has slipped her earlier. Lucius and Bill should be back by now.

Dreamy turns around to catch Lucius's eye. Nodding almost imperceptibly, he murmurs something to the woman and their red-haired companion before he gets up. The female part of the trio looks disappointed as Lucius leaves the crowded room. Though she doubts that anyone would really notice, Dreamy waits a few minutes before she gets up and follows the blond outside.

The Sun Also Rises

Chapter 3 of 3

The morning after...

In the morning, Dreamy wakes up and stretches languidly before she snuggles back into Lucius's arms. 'Did you have fun last night?'

'It was nice. And you? Did you enjoy watching me with Notsosaintly and Severus?'

'You three look very good together, but I'm glad you saved some for me,' she answers with a grin.

'Are you now?' Lucius starts nuzzling along the side of her neck.

She tilts her head a bit to give him better access. 'There's one thing I wonder about though.'

'And what would that be?'

'What it is like to kiss Severus.'

Lucius raises an eyebrow. 'He's a very busy man, you know, but I believe it could be arranged.'

'I'd sure like that.'

'In any case, I'm better,' Lucius says before he proceeds to prove his point — repeatedly.

~fin~