

Lovers' Quarrel

by IrishEspressoGirl

Blaise and Daphne are at Hogwarts for the Holidays, and Blaise has a suggestion.

Lovers' Quarrel

Chapter 1 of 1

Blaise and Daphne are at Hogwarts for the Holidays, and Blaise has a suggestion.

The skeptical witch's eyes narrowed as the tall, dark, impossibly handsome wizard sat beside her in the Great Hall.

"Hey, Greengrass." The wizard lifted his chin in greeting, ignoring her apparent distaste. "You and I are alone for the holidays... Why don't we have a sleepover?" He wriggled his eyebrows suggestively.

"In your dreams, Zabini," she huffed, glare intensifying.

"Every night, Greengrass." His smirk broadened.

Blushing furiously, Daphne stormed away, nearly trampling a pair of younger students.

"What was that about?" the fifth-year asked his classmate.

The witch rolled her eyes, shrugging. "Zabini and Greengrass are having another lovers' quarrel."

Lovers' Quarrel was written for Romancing the Wizard's Challenge Sixteen: Holiday Drabbles & Drawbles in December 2007. The story had to be 100 words long and incorporate the prompt "lovers' quarrel." Dedicated to my fellow Blaise/Daphne fan, Sea Isle Witch.

Blaise & Daphne are my favorite characters to write, and they show up in several of my other stories and drabbles.