Curry Take Away

Chapter 1 of 1

Hermione and Sirius eat take away for every meal, and it's getting boring.

Sirius grimaced at his take-away curry in disgust. He really hated curry, but Simon's was the only place that was open and delivered at eleven 'o clock at night. His dark eyes wandered up to his wife, Hermione. It looked as though she disliked the take away as well. He smiled when their eyes met.

"I am bloody tired of take away for every meal."

"Me too. We really need to learn how to cook." She sighed. "I don't know who can teach us though."

"What about Molly?"

"Are you kidding? After we almost burned down The Burrow last time?"
