Always By His Side

Chapter 1 of 1

Harry comforts Ron after Fred's death.

Oddly, it was a cold night for late May. He thought it reflected the atmosphere of late. Depression had enveloped Ron following the death of his elder brother. He didn't eat, wouldn't work, and talked no one but George, Ginny, Hermione and himself. Every night Ron would sob himself to sleep as Harry held him. Even though he wasn't sure how to get Ron back on his feet, he hoped that just being there would help. Harry stroked his ginger hair and whispered into his ear: "I love you, Ron. Never forget that. I will always be here for you."
