You're It!

Chapter 1 of 1

Draco and Pansy play a little game of hide-and-seek. Challenge entry for Romancing the Wizard.

A/N: This was one of my five contributions to Romancing the Wizard's Wizards of Summer Challenge. The theme was New Beginnings, and the prompt was hiding.

"Seventeen, eighteen, nineteen, twenty!" Pansy counted, looking up from behind her chubby fingers. "Ready or not, here I come!"

Pansy ran off, searching for her playmate. The little black-haired girl looked in cupboards, behind drapes, and under tables but no Draco. Where was he hiding? She was ready to quit when a stifled giggle came from a nearby corner.

She grabbed hold of the Invisibility Cloak and yanked it, revealing a tousled, blond-haired boy. "No fair, Draco!"

Draco kissed her cheek and tossed the cloak to her. "Your turn, Pansy."

To her, he was It in more ways than one.

Author's Notes: This was inspired by watching my youngest daughter (age 5) playing Hide-and-Seek with her friend.
