

Birthday Wishes

by silverdoe

Lucius wakes up alone on his birthday. Will his day get better or worse.

Birthday Wishes

Chapter 1 of 1

Lucius wakes up alone on his birthday. Will his day get better or worse.

Lucius Malfoy was thoroughly pissed. It was his birthday and he was alone. Where in the hell was everybody? He was supposed to be showered with gifts and fawned over all day. He opened the door to Severus' lab. It was empty. The man was usually in one of two places, the lab or bed. Since his bed was empty, Lucius assumed he would be here.

Lucius gave up. There were just too many rooms in the Manor to search. This was not how he had planned to spend his birthday. If his lover did not wish to spend it with him, he would just go find someone who would.

He was walking towards the entry when he felt a strong pair of arms encircle him from behind.

"You thought I had forgotten, didn't you," a silky voice whispered in his ear.

A hand brushed his hair from the back of his neck, moving it over his shoulder. That same wicked mouth began to kiss and nibble on his neck. Lucius felt shivers up and down his spine. Certain parts of his anatomy were beginning to perk up and take notice. The mouth moved away, and Lucius let out a whimper of disappointment. A hand moved from his waist and began to stroke him through the fabric of his trousers.

"When we were younger, you once told me that you would like to go to one of those Muggle amusement parks, but you were too embarrassed to admit it to anyone else."

"Yes," Lucius managed to get out in between the moans of pleasure he was feeling.

"What would you say if I managed to bring all the good things about those parks to you?"

"I would have to say when do we start going on the rides?"

"For you to truly get the whole experience, you will have to overindulge on sweet and sticky fair food first. Close your eyes."

Lucius did. Severus led him down the hall to his office. Once they were inside, he locked and warded the door.

"You can open them now."

Lucius opened his eyes. Standing before him was Hermione Granger. She was completely naked, except for a pair of Mickey Mouse ears on her head. It looked as if she was covered with some sort of syrup, or was that honey?

Lucius turned to his lover and raised an eyebrow in a silent question.

"This is your fair food, and when the two of us have licked her clean, it will be time for the ride."

Lucius was definitely going to enjoy this trip to the amusement park.

~*~

A/N: This was a Saturday night prompt for Arabella Bloodgood's Birthday. The prompt was LM/SS/HG, Honey, Mickey Mouse. Thanks to LitC who had to fix my many mistakes.