

The Unexpected Hunt

by kereia

During the summer holidays, Rose invites Scorpius to spend an evening with her.

N/A

Chapter 1 of 1

During the summer holidays, Rose invites Scorpius to spend an evening with her.

Written for Challenge Twenty at romancingwizard. Prompt: lost Kneazle, Theme: surprises

Disclaimer: J.K. Rowling and Bloomsbury/Scholastic own everything.

With a glance of irritation, Scorpius raised his wand. "Lumos."

Beside him, Rose peered into the forest's undergrowth.

"You know, I didn't really slip away from my parents' summer residence to hunt down your pet Kneazle," he groused.

Rose's lips twitched. "Really? I can't imagine why else you'd be here? Kneazle hunting is very recreational."

One look at his face was enough to sent her into stiches. Then, she wrapped her arms around his neck, fitted her body to his, and brushed her lips across his mouth.

"Is this a better reason to come here, then?"

Scorpius smirked. "Much better."