Chapter 1 of 1

Hermione is having some odd cravings during her pregnancy, and its grossing out Ron and Harry.

Ron and Harry looked flabbergasted as Hermione devoured whatever was around her, occasionally mixing food that shouldn't be mixed.

"Erm, Hermione," Ron choked out, "I know you're six months pregnant, but that's rather gross."

She sent him a deathly glare. "Ron, this baby is practically screaming at me for more food. My baby gets what my baby wants."

The boys exchanged glances. Harry shook his head. "I dunno about you, but I really want to get some therapy after seeing her eat chicken and ice cream together." He paused. "I wonder how Sirius would deal with this, if he saw her."
