

Love

by lollyd123

Something I wrote while thinking about my friends.

Love

Chapter 1 of 1

Something I wrote while thinking about my friends.

Times are changing this I know

Whatever you do and wherever you go.

Think back to the times that we've shared

Remember the joys and know that I cared.

We've been together through thick and thin

The feelings I have, I don't know where to begin.

I need you to see just exactly what you mean to me

My heart is bound to you, please don't set it free.

I love you more than anything this is not a lie

This love will continue till the day I die.