A tale of love lost.

Memory

Chapter 1 of 1

A tale of love lost.

Memory and longing and loss.

Mix them together and give them a toss.

In one moment, the future was present

The next, it was a shadow

Leaving down... down... down an obscure path.

Lips that met in a greeting kiss,

Softly sigh at what is now missed.

When joined at hello, it felt like goodbye

Everything gone in the blink of an eye.

Memories of what was, what should have been

It has all come to a bitter end.

When a strong but gentle touch

Reached out to take a smaller hand,

Dark eyes met light.

It was the end of the tunnel

The beginning of forever sight.

Merry meet, but sadly part

The smaller hand traces the line of his heart.

In the breath of a minute,

Callous words shatter the light

They break.

They fracture.

They dim the sight.
