Chapter 1 of 1

Hermione wants something. Will Severus give it to her?

HP is not mine.

"Severus, kiss me."

"No."

"Why not?" She pouted.

"Because."

"Because why?"

"Because I said no, you impertinent woman, now leave me alone," he growled at her.

"But why won't you kiss me?"

"Because I won't. Now cease this ridiculousness at once. You are acting like a five-year old." He shook his head at her behavior.

"What can I do to make you kiss me?"

"Nothing."

"There has to be something."

"There is only one thing, and if you cannot think of it then we need to go have a talk with your parents."

His reply was met with silence. When he glanced at her, she had that contemplative look, the one that she wore when she was deep in thought. Her eyes blinked with realization and she smiled at him, leaning towards him.

"Severus, will you please kiss me?"

"Yes."

A little something that popped into my head.

Let me know what you think. Please. Lol.
