Chapter 1 of 1

A bit of musings, inspired by the poetry of Bulleh Shah(who is he? wikipedia him)

Inspired by the poetry of Bulleh Shah

I know not who I am

Nor am I a believer amongst the un-believers

Nor am I pagan disciple of false rites

Nor am I the pure amongst the impure

Neither have I read the Bible or the Quran

Neither have I studied the Torah or Vedic texts

Neither in opium, nor in wine

Neither do I remain intoxicated with wealth

Nor in happiness, nor in sorrow

Neither in filth, nor in pureness

Nor was I made from fire

Nor was I made from water

I know not who I am

Neither am I from the East

Neither am I from the West

To the North I do not belong

The South is not my home

Neither have I found the secrets of religion

Nor am I from Adam and Eve

Nor do I have a name to be known by

In myself

I am the first

I am the last

I do not believe in duality

I have never known anything else otherwise

I am the wisest of them all

I am the biggest fool of them all

Do I stand alone?

I know not who I am

Neither am I Moses

Neither am I the Pharaoh

Neither am I awake

Nor am I in a sleeping daze

Neither am I still

Nor am I in motion

Do I stand alone?

I know not who I am

I know not who I am

All I know is

I AM HUMAN
