

Clandestine Encounter

by Ladymage Samiko

Someone is on his way to a secret rendezvous. Written for the GS100 "Guilty Pleasure" challenge.

Clandestine Encounter

Chapter 1 of 2

Someone is on his way to a secret rendezvous. Written for the GS100 "Guilty Pleasure" challenge.

He slid easily down the hallways, keeping to darkened corners and watching carefully for any sign of observers. His destination could not be made public; the consequences would be devastating.

Ah. The door had been left ever-so-slightly ajar. Good.

He slipped inside to find the lamps lit and the couch occupied. The smile he received made him preen smugly. With his own peculiar grace, he settled upon the couch.

He purred loudly as the large, bony hand stroked down his back. Crookshanks would never let his mistress learn that he enjoyed the Shadow Man's touch nearly as much as hers.

A Second Encounter

Chapter 2 of 2

And then there was another secret assignation...

He slid easily down the hallways, keeping to darkened corners and watching carefully for any sign of observers. His destination could not be made public; the consequences would be devastating.

Ah. The door had been left ever-so-slightly ajar. Good.

He slipped inside to find the lamps lit and the couch occupied. The smile he received made him preen smugly. With his own peculiar grace, he settled upon the couch.

He purred loudly as the small, soft hand stroked down his back. Severus would never let her Kneazle-beast learn that he enjoyed Hermione's touch just as much as she enjoyed his.