Chapter 1 of 1

Ron challenges Hermione to a game of Wizarding Truth or Dare.

“Getting to know you,

Getting to know all about you.”

Ron sang loudly, albeit off-key. He was feeling a little chilly, especially certain extremities. Who knew that challenging Hermione to a game of Wizarding Truth or Dare last night at Grimmauld Place would result in frostbite of his precious family jewels? He hadn't taken her for a cruel person, but daring a man to run around Hogsmeade village starkers in the middle of winter bellowing out stupid songs from some bloody Muggle musical was simply uncalled for. Maybe I shouldn't have dared her to kiss Snape earlier. She certainly was away upstairs for a long time and had an awfully smug look about her when she returned. Maybe he didn't know her as well as he had assumed.

“Getting to like you,

Getting to hope you like me.”

Each breath was visible in the icy air. Fat chance of that. If she liked me the way I like her, she would have more respect for my manly bits. If she was at all interested, she would at least be here having a look. Where did she disappear to after our game last night? I haven't seen her or Snape this morning. Surely not...? What have I done? Ron groaned, awareness of the true depth of his foolishness slicing through him as acutely as the winter wind. Harry had mentioned the way Hermione had been staring at Snape, as if he was some intriguing, new book in Flourish and Blotts that she hadn't yet read. He hadn't paid any attention; after all, what did Snape have that he didn't? Ron glanced down at his shrivelling penis. Well, perhaps there was something... now.

“Getting to know you,

Putting it my way,

But nicely,

You are precisely my cup of tea.”

Stupid song. He didn't like tea anyway. Coffee gave a much better kick. What was Hermione thinking? He had certainly got to know what she thought of him and his poor, blue bits.

“Oh!”

Reality was a bitch.

A/N: Prompt from Lyn_F. Someone running around naked singing "Getting to Know You." Lyrics from the musical, "The King And I." Thanks to WriterMerrin for the beta.
