Chapter 1 of 1

Prompt from MomoDesu: Lucius and Draco discover the Xbox. Do they become addicted, or does Lucius smash it because it's a Muggle creation?

A whispered Avada Kedavra was doing nothing to kill the little men running around on the telly-thing in Draco's room. His son spent hours on the device, yelling obscenities and keeping him up all night. It was Potter's fault. His son was turning Muggle now that he had shackled up with that abomination.

Draco had called it CoD and explained that he shot at strangers with Muggle weapons and scored points for each kill.

If Lucius could find the name he was looking for ...

Yes! There —The chosen one.

Now if only he could really kill the little bugger.

Author's Notes:

This was for MomoDes's drabble prompt during Saturday night chat - Lucius and Draco discover the Xbox. Do they become addicted, or does Lucius smash it because it's a Muggle creation?
