

The Secret Side of Vanity

by Stefdarin

Draco discovers his father's secret of success.

~~

Chapter 1 of 1

Draco discovers his father's secret of success.

Disclaimer: Don't own it, never will.

Draco wandered the halls of his family's estate. At the moment, his mother and father were away and had left him to make sure the house-elves did their work. There were times, like this, when he hated the summer. He wanted to be with his friends, not stuck in this mausoleum of a house with nothing to do but dodge or punish the servants. It was boring.

After making sure the house-elves were working diligently, Draco snuck upstairs to his parents' bedroom. His discovery of his father's Playwizard collection usually proved to entertain him when he was bored, but he tossed the latest issue back in the chest after an hour of ogling. He had already looked through it four times this week, and now, even that couldn't hold his attention very long.

Sighing heavily, Draco rose from the floor and Levitated the trunk back to its usual place. As it lowered, he lost concentration when he tried to listen for his parents' return at the same time. Before he could capture it, the chest struck the floor with a thud, and a section of the floor popped up like a door. Draco looked around nervously, holding his breath as he tried to listen for footsteps on the stairs. After a moment or two with no sound, he breathed a sigh of relief and moved forward to peer inside the open trapdoor.

Sucking in his breath, Draco's eyes widened at his find. Inside, the small space was filled with strange, brightly colored containers. Tilting his head to the side, he read the package on top aloud, "Cocky: Thickening paste for fuller looking hair."

Reaching in and growing more curious by the moment, he took out the next few items and read them to himself. "Power Play: Firm finish gel for control and shine, Self Absorbed: Mega nutrient shampoo, Smoothing Lusterizer: Smoothing stuff to shine, defrizz and tame."

"What the bloody hell is this?" He asked the room at large.

Imagine his shock when he actually received a reply. "You think hair as attractive as mine comes naturally? Really, Draco."

Prompt: Draco discovers his father's secret stash - Muggle hair care products , issued by eoforyth.

Thanks go to WriterMerrin for beta-ing this. And Semptra and OSUSprinks for suggestions on ways to care for your hair.

More Disclaimer: Hair products, sadly, do not belong to me either.