Just a little poem I did a couple years ago. Thought I ought to put this up and see what people think about it :)

Do You Ever?

Chapter 1 of 1

Just a little poem I did a couple years ago. Thought I ought to put this up and see what people think about it :)

A/N: Hi, it's my first post here, I hope you guys like it! I wrote this a couple years ago when I had a friendship end disastrously, and thought I ought to dust this off and pit it up. Enjoy, and don't forget to review! :D

Now I think back on the past

And the huge argument which was our last

I shake my head

And wonder bitterly

Don't you ever realise anything about your flaws?

You came to me

Alone and desolate

I accepted you

And tried to offer you solace

But to everything there is a limit

And my patience no less

I could not comprehend your restrictions

Or your extreme aversions

They say friendship brings one joy

But all I could remember was misery

Countless hours spent in tears and frustration

The burden of gloom weighing me down

Until now

I have never hated you

All I felt was pity

That you are yet clueless

Hasn't it ever occurred to you

Not everything is my fault?
