Let's face it - how many times have you considered that you might be a bit of a nymphomaniac? Or perhaps you've wanted to be more of one? Lay your worries to rest. The Ministry has come to your rescue.

Pop culture has proven with lines like Tonight you're a star, and I'm the big dipper(Prince); Masturbation can be fun(Hair Soundtrack); Get off, sexy mother fucker, soft and wet and I wanna be your lover(Prince); Ladies, shake your ass now, I'm a hit you from the back and make you holler til you pass out(3OH!3); When I watch you, wanna do you, right where you're standing. Yeah, right on the foyer, on this dark day, right in plain view(Say Anything); And sex is good sometimes we come home at night. Make love, kiss, hug, drink, drug and fight. And even when I'm wrong my girl'll fuck me till I'm right. Kiss me all over, lick me head from toe(Crazy Town); I bet if you threw that ass in the air it'd turn into sunshine(Prince) that there's no harm in indulging in those desires and fantasies. In fact, what does pop culture do other than promote sexual activity? We're only human, after all. Call it a guilty pleasure, but sometimes you just have to address those wants.

This is why TPP is now an explicit-fiction-only site. It's our mission to host quality stories, make you as comfortable as possible (in every possible way), make you squirm, make you wet, whet your appetite, and to help you indulge in those pleasures, which shouldn't be secret at all, since it's rather beneficial for your health that you lead a sexually active life.

Please refer to our featured stories for a fantastic example.

Enjoy!

Yours,

Ministry of Magic
