

Have You Seen This Eye?

by BrenaMarie

Mad-Eye Moody has lost his magical eye.

Have You Seen This Eye?

Chapter 1 of 1

Mad-Eye Moody has lost his magical eye.

Disclaimer: Not Mine. No money for me.

Mad-Eye Moody looked more like a pirate than his usual self as he was limping up and down Diagon Alley. The battle-scarred man was holding a stack of parchments and brandishing his wand with great flourish.

At first, no one would dare to approach him in the state he was in. The man was usually unapproachable at best, but at the moment he was downright frightening. Every once in a while a passer-by would hear him grumble something that sounded like "Damn Firewhisky."

Finally, someone did ask the crotchety man why he was wearing an eye patch. At that moment he simply grunted and pointed to a recently hung parchment.

MISSING:

One Magical Eye

Bright Blue in colour

Can see through solid objects and invisible items

Known to move on its own when placed in eye socket.

LAST SEEN:

14 Aug 1995—22:30

REWARD:

100 Galleons

CONTACT:

Alastor Moody

Madame Rosemerta decided that Tuesday would indeed be a good day to visit Diagon Alley. While conducting her shopping, she found Alastor Moody posting parchments regarding his missing magical eye and couldn't stop laughing.

"Ha! That'll teach the old codger to use that eye of his to look at my lingerie"

A/N: This is in response to debjunk's prompt of "Mad-Eye Moody loses his eye. How does he react?"

Much thanks also go to debjunk for the quick beta work and tons of love to the Saturday Night Drabble group! They are awesome! Please Review!