The wedding was beautiful and the reception a wonderful gathering of family and friends. At last, the long-awaited honeymoon had arrived. They had agreed to wait until marriage to consummate their love. While the waiting had been hard, it had certainly heightened the anticipation of these moments in bed.

Heated kisses led to fumbling attempts to undress as quickly as possible. Clothes finally removed, hands traced down to flick and rub peaked nipples. Lips followed, and the hands gently trailed down the flat stomach.

A sudden giggle was heard. "That tickles!"

Caresses became slightly firmer. Hermione whispered, "Just relax, Severus."
