A poem I wrote for my mom, but I suppose most people will see it as, well, overdramatic.

Hey Hazel Eyes

Chapter 1 of 1

A poem I wrote for my mom, but I suppose most people will see it as, well, overdramatic.

Hey hazel eyes
I see you over there
Hey hazel eyes
Don't pretend that you don't care
Hey hazel eyes
I'm just like you
Hey hazel eyes
I do everything you do
Hey hazel eyes
I'm just your daughter; you don't see
Hey hazel eyes
It's just me; I just want to be free
Hey hazel eyes
Just pretend to know who I am
'Cuz hazel eyes
I know you don't give a damn
Hey hazel eyes

I try to listen

But hazel eyes

When you yell; these tears glisten

Hey hazel eyes

I know you see them on my face

Hey hazel eyes

Don't they seem out of place

Hey hazel eyes

I won't let you order me around

'Cuz hazel eyes

I'll stand my ground

Hey hazel eyes

Do you hear my bitter voice

Hey hazel eyes

It was all your choice

Hey hazel eyes

I'm not your child anymore

Hey hazel eyes

You've lost this war
