Duck

Chapter 1 of 1

A duck causes trouble in Hogwarts.

HP is not mine and nothing is made from this.

For Karelia and her ducky entertainment!

"What is that thing that you have placed on my desk?"

"That, Severus, is a duck. It is yellow and it walks and it quacks and it is an animal. They are quite popular these days."

"Why have you placed this offensive thing on my desk, Miss Granger?"

"I thought you could use a little cheering up. You always seem so down."

"Try again, Miss Granger."

"All right, the truth is that Nathaniel Longbottom lost it. This duck is his familiar, and I found it waddling down the hall. His name is Bill. I know you have Nathaniel in your class next, so I brought Bill here for you to give to him."

"Why on earth would I want to do that, Miss Granger?"

"Stop calling me that! I am a professor and your colleague. You owe me respect."

"You put a duck on my desk, and you expect me to give you respect? Not likely. Speaking of which, where did the horrifying creature go?"

"Oh no, he wandered off again! Bill! Bill, where did you go?"

"Are you sure you aren't related to Longbottom, Miss Granger?"

"Shut up, Severus, and help me find this stupid duck!"
