

Lucius's Tale

by luvsev

An encounter between Hermione, Lucius, and Severus at the beach.

One Shot

Chapter 1 of 1

An encounter between Hermione, Lucius, and Severus at the beach.

Cool water from the ocean splashes over our three beautiful, naked bodies, washing away sins of the past. Wind rushes in, bringing life anew as we lie in the sand with our bodies entwined. Light from the late afternoon sun begins to fade as brilliant pinks and greens streak across the ever-darkening sky.

Two pairs of hands quest over sun-kissed, silken skin, mapping, committing every curve to memory. Our lips lightly touch, and our tongues dance to a hypnotic tune as old as time. Oaths are rasped as tension builds with sharp thrusts and softly swivelling hips. A band of tension snaps, and a wave of water crashes violently into the boulders on the shore, drowning the happy sighs of pleasure fulfilled.

As our heartbeats slow from their frantic pace, I turn my gaze from the sunset to look upon the shadowed forms of my lovers. One, whose dark past is so similar to my own, and the other, a curly-haired woman who has changed my life. Hearing their breathing become even, I shut my eyes to dream of tomorrow when we will join our souls.

A/N: Thanks to the sweet and talented kittylefish for betaing.