

Career Choices

by sunny33

Hermione is having second thoughts about her choice of career.

-

Chapter 1 of 1

Hermione is having second thoughts about her choice of career.

"Fucking dunderheads! Wouldn't know a decent potion if they fell over one!" Hermione viciously slashed red ink into the offending parchment between glares at the smirking portrait behind her desk. "Oh, piss off. It's all your fault!"

"Don't blame me for your foolish choice of career, woman."

"Well, if you hadn't been such a brilliant teacher, I wouldn't be sitting here."

The man in the portrait raised a disbelieving eyebrow.

"OK. Unfair, intolerant, ill-tempered, antisocial, pig-headed, and brilliant."

"You forgot obnoxious."

The painted face of Severus Snape ducked as a paperweight sailed unerringly towards his frame.

"Your aim is improving!"

A/N: Written for Potter Place Saturday Night Drabbles. Prompt from luvsev: 100 words, a picture, a memory, any pairing.