

Enough

by luvsev

A moment between Severus and Hermione

Enough

Chapter 1 of 1

A moment between Severus and Hermione

Through the dim light, he gazed at her from beneath his dark eyelashes. 'Is this all you want from me?' His whisper was nothing more than a breath of wind as he squeezed his eyes shut to quell the tears threatening to form.

'I've never wanted anything more than this. It's enough for me,' she said, kissing one long, thin scar on his pale chest.

'Enough? I've never been enough for anyone.' Bitterness crept into his silky voice.

'They were fools.' She pressed her hand to his heart and said, 'They never gave you the chance to prove your worth.'