

Snape's Favorite Book

by cflower

What is Snape's favorite book?

One

Chapter 1 of 1

What is Snape's favorite book?

Author's Note: This drabble was inspired by a prompt from Magicofeden. I thought it was pertinent because I've always thought of Snape as a reader. The drabble references A Tale of Two Cities by Charles Dickens. I feel that literature is open-ended. Thus, a drabble referencing literature would also be. I hope you enjoy it. Reviews are always appreciated.

Disclaimer: I do not own anything J. K. Rowling has written.

~oOo~

Two voices in Snape's head.

Because a hero of fiction preceded him.

And what is not realer than fiction?

For fiction results from life.

And the whole time he felt these words imprint on his very humanity; they were the oxygen that left his lungs with each breath, they were his muscles for motion, and the blood from his heart.

"I am the Resurrection and the life, saith the Lord: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die"

And the guilt for his life was gone.

~oOo~