Albus takes Minerva to Stonehenge.

Chapter 1 of 1

Albus takes Minerva to Stonehenge.

"Are you planning to tell me why we are here, Albus? Some time before Christmas would be helpful. I have essays to mark, and you know if we leave Severus in charge too long we will have to award far too many undeserved points next week."

"All in good time, my dear. Just relax and enjoy the wonderful atmosphere of this place. Such magical resonance... such latent power... such elemental energy."

"Such a load of haggis droppings. You know the most powerful wizards and witches have studied this entire area for centuries, and there is no evidence it is anything more than a temple built by obsessed Muggle sun-worshippers. You're a romantic fool high on sugar if you believe there is more to Stonehenge than that."

"Oh, Minnie. You were always the practical one. Can you not indulge me just this once? Here, have a lemon drop."

"I know damn well you lace those sweets with potions, Albus Dumbledore. What is it today? A mild hallucinogen? A relaxant? Or perhaps a little aphrodisiac? It won't work this time, old man."

"But you enjoyed it last time, Minnie, my darling. Or were those howls your inner cat trying to escape?"

"Don't twinkle at me, you devious bastard. Just because I enjoyed it doesn't mean I would have willingly done that!"

"You need to be a little more adventurous in the bedroom. Or out of it..."

"No, Albus! We are not having sex out here. Someone will see us. And those rocks do not look at all comfortable!"

"Cushioning and Warming Charms, my dear. And there is a nice patch of shadows over there..."

"No. No. NO!"

"Well, let's just take a walk then. No harm in trying to spice things up, is there?"

"I don't trust you, manipulative old codger that you are. Keep your hands to yourself and put those lemon drops away!"

"Yes, dear."

...

"Albus? Albus! Where are you?"

...

"Albus, if you don't appear this minute, I'm returning to Hogwarts!"

...

"Alb— Mmm, Albus, you shouldn't sneak up on a woman like that."

...

"Albus! Oh, yes, Albus! Oh, oh, yes..."

...

...

...

"Albus! You didn't use a Disillusionment Charm?"

"Ouch!"

"Ow!"

"Oof!"

"Minerva, stop! Help! Someone get this witch off me!"
