

Gentleman Caller

by Ladymage Samiko

Severus comes upon a sleeping Hermione. For the GS100 'Not a Gentleman' challenge.

Gentleman Caller

Chapter 1 of 1

Severus comes upon a sleeping Hermione. For the GS100 'Not a Gentleman' challenge.

The evening's meeting had gone on for ages, as meetings tended to do with more than two people involved. Exhausted—and more than a little exasperated—Severus drifted towards the library to look for anything that could distract him.

He found Granger curled up on the couch, book millimetres away from limp fingers. Her breath was quiet and even—peaceful.

A decent fellow, he thought as he approached, would pull a warm blanket over her.

A slender hand stopped his as he softly pushed her robe back to reveal full breasts. “You, sir,” Hermione murmured with a sleepy, feline grin, “are no gentleman.”

A/N: The 'not a gentleman' challenge brought to mind the final line, which is a quotation from Gone with the Wind.