

Time Out, Snape Style

by Pffltriggi

A response to the "Magical Love Seat" challenge on GrangerSnape100.

Time Out, Snape Style

Chapter 1 of 1

A response to the "Magical Love Seat" challenge on GrangerSnape100.

A/N: This is the first story I've written since I took a Short Fiction class in college... which was longer ago than I like to think about. Please feel free to drop some tips my way!

"Severus?"

"In here, love."

She entered, and looking to her left, she saw two little boys reading quietly on the loveseat. They did not acknowledge her presence... They didn't seem to be aware of anything outside their books.

Hermione opened her mouth, when her husband interrupted.

"I charmed it."

"Charmed what?"

"The loveseat. I told them if they bickered once more that I would put an end to it. As you see, I have."

"I do see. When are you going to let them go?"

"They are quite content... I made sure of it. Now, how was your day, my dear?"