Chapter 1 of 1

Professor Lucius Malfoy finds himself a vampire 'daughter' at Hogwarts. Will it work out, or will the war cause unnecessary loss?

I came across you on the train,
You were so stunning,
Yet there was something terribly wrong
You had no spirit,
And no will to live.
You had bright red lips,
Long brown hair,
And amazing green-gray eyes,
I never noticed you had no friends,
I thought you enjoyed studying,
In the library,
You were so polite to everyone,
I loved spending time with you,
You were like the daughter I never had,
I had a Son,
But he didn't want to spend time with me,

I just wish I hadn't dawdled,
Then you wouldn't be dead,
And I wouldn't be heartbroken,
The suffering you went through,
Because of what you were,
Oh just end the pain,
We will never be together,
Since we are of a different class,
You, a vampire,
And I a rich man,
Oh why did I have to fall,
So very much in love with you,
I hope someday you will understand,
How very sorry I am,
That I could not save you,
From this harsh, harsh world,
Someone kill me
