

Silence is no fun

by kyriaofdelphi

The Krums take advantage of an unoccupied alcove.

Shagging your wife

Chapter 1 of 1

The Krums take advantage of an unoccupied alcove.

A celebration hosted by the Ministry of Magic is not the place to get an irresistible urge to shag your wife.

However, if you just won the Quidditch World Cup in a match that went on for eleven hours straight, you really need to be alone with her.

An alcove off the banquet hall is not the ideal spot to choose if she is a screamer like Hermione.

Viktor cast several Aversion Spells and Notice-me-not Spells, but did not bother with Silencing Spells.

The only person likely to come looking for them was Ron Weasley.

Viktor was going to enjoy making Hermione scream and moan just to see the expression on Weasley's face.

Dynonugget said, "The challenge: she can't utter a single sound while he's ravishing her, or else everyone will hear them. Thing is, maybe she wants them to."

I simply tweaked it a bit.