Her Hair

Chapter 1 of 1

My answer to 'the first time together' challenge.

Merlin, but the hair was horrendous. It frizzed, and it coiled crazily. It had an annoying tendency to be found in places where it did not belong, just like its owner. It was unruly, obnoxious, and so damn self-willed that one could think it had sentience and a life of its own.

Awful, insufferable hair. But when the moonlight touched it just so and fiddled with its shades and texture, making it look deceptively soft and pliant, it was, really, a glorious mane. Especially when it was (finally, Circe, finally!) splayed over his pillow and partly - over his chest.
