

Pearls Strewn Across the Sky

by banjobraids

Severus and Hermione on a balcony during a party. 100-word drabble. Stars challenge.

Pearls Strewn Across the Sky

Chapter 1 of 1

Severus and Hermione on a balcony during a party. 100-word drabble. Stars challenge.

He noticed instantly that she had either scrubbed or spelled off the ever-present ink stains from her hands. In fact, after taking in her entire form with a sweeping glance (softly curling hair, clingy gossamer dress robes, delicate slippers), his eyes were immediately drawn back to her hands. They lighted like doves on the marble railing after swooping in the air as she made some observation or another to him. She was wearing pearlescent nail varnish, and he stared at it, enthralled, knowing he would not tell her that in the moonlight her fingertips resembled nothing more than tiny stars.