"You looked luffly tonight, Herm-own-ninny."

He misses her resigned sigh as she turns her cheek to meet his questing lips.

"They are so beautiful. I only vant to touch, Hermie-onny."

But she bats his hand away from her chest – again.

"It's been six months. Feel how I vant you, Her-mee-own."

She quickly steps back before he can demonstrate his passion.

"Please, I need to taste you, Hermione, my love."

She smiles as he lowers his head. He has earned it.

"I love you, I want you, I need you, Hermione Krum," he murmurs.

"Then take me, Viktor. I love you."
