Chapter 1 of 1

Ron has dumped Hermione for someone very unexpected...

Hermione stared at the man who used to be her boyfriend, unable to believe what he just had said to her. "Say what you said again, Ron. Slowly."

"We're through. I'm in love with the Giant Squid," Ron said, shrugging his shoulders casually with a dreamy look on his face. "The way she holds me tight. Can you imagine what it's like to have ten arms holding you, caressing you, touching every part of your body?"

Hermione's eyes opened wide. "You don't mean you... the Giant Squid..." Hermione, who couldn't even say the whole sentence, looked like she wanted to be sick.

"No, not yet," he said with a sappy look. "However, as soon as I figure out a way to breathe underwater permanently I'll go live with her."

Several minutes later, a very angry Hermione threw the door open to Weasleys' Wizard Wheezes.

"Thanks to you, your brother is in love with the Giant Squid!"

George collapsed with laughter. When Fred entered the room, he started laughing as well, having overheard their conversation.

"Guess those Special Kind of Love sweets worked well," George said.

"Too well," Hermione replied. "Now you give him the antidote, or you won't have a reason for any kind of love." She waved her wand at both of the twins' crotches threateningly. "You have fifteen minutes." She stormed out of the twins' store, leaving them with huge smirks on their faces.

"Think she's serious?" Fred asked.

Just then a spell shot through the open window, blowing apart one of the displays.

"That answers your question," George replied. "Let's get him our antidote. I don't want to be on her bad side, do you?"

Catching another look from the departing Hermione, Fred shook his head. "Nah, not worth it. Let's try it on some Slytherins instead."

Challenge from ladyinthecloak: Ron breaks up with Hermione because he's fallen in love with the Giant Squid. The words 'that,' 'and' and 'but' are to be avoided under any circumstances.
