

Tangled Webs

by blue artemis

Hermione and Viktor diffuse a nefarious plot to spy on their honeymoon.

Tangled Webs

Chapter 1 of 1

Hermione and Viktor diffuse a nefarious plot to spy on their honeymoon.

A/N: written for madeleine for the hp_con envy. Prompt: How about something different (for me at least): Herminone/Viktor, a WWW product, breakfast in bed and a snitch.
:) Many thanks to pennfanna for the beta!

"Here you go, loff."

Hermione smiled up at Viktor from the bed. "That looks wonderful! What did you make for me?"

"Your favorites, my darling. Fried bread, eggs, tomatoes, mushrooms and bacon."

"I'm glad you made enough for two, Vitya. Now, come back here and join me!"

Hermione took a bite of breakfast, then held a forkful up to Viktor. He then deliberately spilled a bit of something down the front of her nightgown and dove in after it.

They pulled the covers up over themselves, and the only thing left for anyone to watch, if anyone had been watching, was the covers moving suggestively and the sounds of murmurs and giggles. What was left of breakfast went flying.

"Oh, yes, right there!" Hermione cried out.

The couple heard a small explosion from the corner of the room.

Hermione hopped out of bed, looking far too put together for someone who had supposedly just had an early morning romp with her new husband. She found the remains of a WWW spider cam. "It is here, just like you said."

"I can't believe that boy. Yes, boy. He has never grown up, has he?"

"You are right, Vitya. And with Molly, well, mollycoddling him, he never will."

The couple heard a tapping at their window. They opened it to let Ginny's new owl in.

You were right. George and I caught him using the master web to look in on you through the spider cam that just blew up in your room. Since I lost the bet, here is the snitch from our last match.

Nice show, by the way. I can't believe he thought that was real. I've seen more wandering downstairs at Grimmauld Place. As it was, he was practically catatonic.

You should be able to enjoy your honeymoon in peace now.

Do you think we should warn Harry and Draco?

love,

Ginny

The couple looked at each other and laughed. Then, free of spies, they proceeded to enjoy their honeymoon for real.