

Bellatrix and the Ferret

by Amita

A meeting inside the Forbidden Forest.

Chapter 1 of 1

A meeting inside the Forbidden Forest.

Ooh, ooh, a lovely little ferret
Who's rambl'd far and needs a rest.
"Not I," said the Queen.
"For evil dwells inside my own nest,
To stay far away is surely the best."
Ooh, ooh, a loving little ferret
Who'll kindness give for its own sake.
"Not I," said the Queen.
"I've hardened my heart for much is at stake.
A kind word will pierce it and cause it to break."
Ooh, ooh, a lonely little ferret
Who's wandered off and needs a home.
"Not I," said the Queen.
"I've killed and destroyed all of my own.
It's better by far you continue to roam."
Ooh, ooh, a faithful little ferret
Who'll cry for you when you must go.
"Not for me," said the Queen.
"I can not relent from what I now sow.

My doom is upon me with a life full of woe."

Ooh, ooh, a longing little ferret

Who'll be with you so lovingly.

"Not I," said the Queen.

"From dust was I made as you can well see.

And dust is all I ever shall be."

A prompt was misread as Bellatrix, Forbidden Forest, and a ferret.

What would Simon and Garfunkel think?
