

The Song of Death

by thelesbiantreefrog

A short original poem.

The Song of Death

Chapter 1 of 1

A short original poem.

It sings the sorrow of our hollowed earth's life.
As the wind ponders the water of birth's peace
And calls forth the virtuous fire.
Eternity emanates the pleasure of studious knowledge.
Ah, but life dances to the ecstasy of a barren pain!
It shines like the moon's agony.
Oh, how my heart calls forth this velvet death!