Sneaking In

Chapter 1 of 1

What you will do not to get caught?

*Not mine just playing in JKR's toy box

She winced as the door opened with a squeak. You would think by now someone could have been bothered to oil it.

Slipping off her shoes, she avoided any loose stones that might reveal her late movement as she tiptoed across the hall. Still holding her breath, she slipped through the next door.

From the darkness, the deep voice met her. "Think you made it without being caught?"

Her breath caught, and she tensed, hoping that it hadn't carried. "If you wake them up, you're the one who has to get the twins back to sleep. I need my rest."

A/N just a little bunny who poked me to try my hand at a 100 word drabble. Thanks to Somigliana for her beta help
