Chapter 1 of 1

Narcissa decides to learn a Muggle skill.

"You what?" he asked, stunned.

"I got my driving licence," she responded.

"You mean that you are going to learn to drive," he asked, dumbfounded at the idea.

She gloated as she replied, "No. I said I got my licence. I already learned to drive and passed the testing. I am a licenced driver."

Lucius stood there, his jaw working up and down but now sounds emitting from him and his eyes wide.

"Dangling the Muggle car keys in front of her, Narcissa gave a sly grin. "Want to go for a ride?" she asked him, suggestively adding, "Maybe we could even run out of gas on a deserted country road."

Lucius grabbed his coat.

Based on a prompt by MuseAmusant: Narcissa takes up a very Muggle hobby. Lucius scoffs at first, then decides that there is a definite up side to his wife's emerging new talent.
