Chapter 1 of 1

He knew what he wanted to do with his money right from the start.

Neville stood up from the chair in which he had sat during his meeting with his grandmother's lawyer. As he had been her only grandchild, her entire estate had been given to him and his wife. However, since he still had a trust every month from the money that his parents had left for him plus his salary from teaching at Hogwarts, he wanted to do something worthwhile with the considerable amount of money he had just inherited from Augusta Longbottom.

Later that evening, he told Hannah of his thoughts and his idea. "We don't need all that money, Hannah. I think it could go to a better cause."

Hannah answered by hugging her husband. "I completely agree, Neville," she said with a smile.

One year later, the Alice and Frank Longbottom Research Center for the Treatment of Cruciatus Curse Victims opened up.

Neville smiled at his decision, knowing that maybe one day they would be able to help his parents and others who had suffered the same fate. The money couldn't have gone to a better cause.
