Chapter 1 of 1

What happens when two Death Eaters find Santa and there are no witnesses!

Santa got run over by two Death Eaters
Walking back from our house Christmas Day
We didn't have a chimney he could slide down
And with his Mini Cooper they mowed him down!
He'd trade in his sleigh
For something with more get up and go
Had gifts stashed in the back
As he walked to the car in the snow.
Then he heard the engine revving
As they shifted into gear
He was too surprised to run
As the back wheel stopped upon his rear.
Santa got run over by two Death Eaters,
Walking back from our house Christmas Day
We didn't have a chimney he could slide down
And with his Mini Cooper they mowed him down!

He'd been warned about the Crucio
Told about the killing curse, too
But we never thought the Death Eaters
Would take him out the way that Muggles do!
Santa got run over by two Death Eaters
Walking back from our house Christmas Day
We didn't have a chimney he could slide down
And with his Mini Cooper they mowed him down!
It's not Christmas without Santa
All the gifts were in the back
We all watched in horror
as those Death Eaters shoved them in a sack!
(In a sack)
Santa got run over by two Death Eaters
Walking back from our house Christmas Day
We didn't have a chimney he could slide down
And with his Mini Cooper they mowed him down!
Now the goose is on the table
And the pudding made of fig
And a red and white candle that would just have matched the hat on Santa's wig.
I've warned Hufflepuffs and Gryffindors
Ravenclaws, even Slytherins
Never leave the keys in the ignition
Those Death Eaters will hop right in.
Santa got run over by two Death Eaters,
Walking back from our house Christmas Day
We didn't have a chimney he could slide down
And with his Mini Cooper they mowed him down!
(Sing it, Dobby!)

Santa got run over by two Death Eaters
Walking back from our house Christmas Day
We didn't have a chimney he could slide down
And with his Mini Cooper they mowed him down!

Merry Christmas!
