Too Much Of A Good Thing

by Dyni

Professor Granger wakes up to an unusual situation after imbibing a little too much champagne at the annual Hogwarts New Year's staff party.

Too Much Of A Good Thing

Chapter 1 of 1

Professor Granger wakes up to an unusual situation after imbibing a little too much champagne at the annual Hogwarts
New Year's staff party.

Disclaimer: I'm not JK Rowling. Obviously.

One bleary eye carefully opened, then another.

Argh … Bloody-Hogwarts-New-Year's-Frigging-Staff-Party … Too much champagne.

Something stirred beside her.

…

It—no, he, had black hair …

"Oh, no … please don't be Harry … notHarrynotHarryno—"

"Not bloody likely," an amused voice answered.

"Oh, God."

"Severus will do."

"Wha-what happened? Can't remember … Erm, did we …? Did you …?"

"Indeed."

"And … I?"

"Obviously."

"We did …?"

"Oh, yes. Three times. Very satisfying."

"Oh, god …"

"You mentioned quite a lot of that too." He smirked. "Never knew you were so …religious."

"Well, erm …"

"And so articulate."

"Maybe you could … erm, fill me in about last night?"

"With the greatest pleasure."

…