

The New Recruit

by juniperus

Millie notices things. (A drabble in honor of Juno!Father's 70th birthday.)

The New Recruit

Chapter 1 of 1

Millie notices things. (A drabble in honor of Juno!Father's 70th birthday.)

Millie notices things.

Like how Weasley watches Potter. And Granger watches Weasley.

Millie watches Weasley, too.

Like how Pansy frowns at her when she reaches for a second helping of tart.

Like how Granger never eats tart.

And how no one smiles.

Not like they do at her.

When she transfigured her teapot properly the first time 'correct' wasn't correct enough to be accompanied by even the barest smile.

Nor was her perfect Wiggensweld Potion.

Madam Headmistress, though... she smiles at Millie. Even when she frowns at the other students.

Including Granger.

Especially Granger.

Millie notices. And smiles to herself.