

Wedding Night Bliss

by LivingTheDream

A newly wedded couple enjoy their first night as man and wife.

Drabble

Chapter 1 of 1

A newly wedded couple enjoy their first night as man and wife.

"That was a lovely ceremony."

"Indeed."

"I couldn't have asked for anything more wonderful. It was my dream wedding, really. Can you help me with the zip?"

He looked at her, surprised. Fumbling a bit, he helped her with the zip of her white dress.

"Dream wedding? Really? Sometimes I think someone must have cursed you. I shouldn't have let you talk me into this."

She kicked off her shoes and stepped out of the expensive wedding dress, leaving it crumpled on the floor. She must have confounded her parents to get them to pay for that dress after they saw who she was marrying. He looked up, startled, as she began to undo the buttons on his vest. She giggled at his expression.

"I'm much too old for you," he continued, as her hands deftly slipped his vest off his shoulders. "Your friends will nev—" He found he was unable to continue on this familiar rant as her lips captured his. She began to undo his trousers, and he smiled into her lips, unable to resist her.

"No sense in wasting time, now, is there? We're married now." She cupped his balls, and he groaned as she began to stroke his cock. Immediately brought around to her point of view, he unclasped her lacy bra and began tugging at her knickers.

"Well, if you insist. My wife will have what she wants." He pushed her gently back onto the bed. Stepping on the heels of his shoes (and scuffing them in the process), he finished stripping, and losing patience with the stubborn knickers, he ripped them into pieces. Her wet pussy beckoned to him, and he fondled her clit while devouring her breasts. She arched her back in frustration.

"What are you waiting for? I need you inside me now!"

He plunged his engorged cock into her, and she cried out in ecstasy.

"Ohhhhh... ARGUS!" she screamed.

"LAVENDER!"

A/N: This was an evil April Fool's Day Story dreamed up by Karelia and me. Karelia also beta'd this. And she's awesome.