The Real Thing

Chapter 1 of 1

Severus is disturbed when he hears his wife in the throes of ecstasy ...

"Ohhhhhhh ... That's so good ..." Severus paused in the entrance hall to the home he shared with his wife, frowning at the ecstasy he heard in her voice.

"Yeeeeessssss!" Another female voice. Was that ... Ginny Potter? Hermione was cheating on him with Ginny Potter?! They hadn't ever seemed that close, even ... Had it all been a ruse, to keep him from suspecting?

"The best ... Ever!" The dreaminess of that voice definitely belonged to Luna Weasley.

A triad? He had always thought Luna was more in love with her husband than the prat deserved ...

Bursting into the room, prepared to flay them all alive for cuckolding him, Severus could only stare as his wife smiled at him and said, "Severus, you really must try this chocolate. It's better than sex ... Well, almost!"

My response to a prompt by gingertart50 in SND chat: "Food isn't foreplay; it's the Real Thing!"
