

Batteries Not Included

by peskipiksi

Arthur Weasley has finally found a way to get Molly to accept his collection of Muggle rubbish.

Drabble

Chapter 1 of 1

Arthur Weasley has finally found a way to get Molly to accept his collection of Muggle rubbish.

Molly Weasley glanced dubiously at the catalogue in her husband's hand. 'Arthur, I'm quite happy with the colour of the living room. I don't think grey would work in here. And even if it did, I'm not sure we'd need fifty shades to choose between.'

'It's, er, not that kind of catalogue, Mollywobbles.'

She took a closer look. 'Oh!'

Arthur held his breath. Just as he thought his lungs (and other parts of his anatomy) might explode, Molly spoke.

'Arthur, dear. That collection of batteries in your shed.'

'Yes, dear?'

'I'm glad you ignored me when I told you to throw it out.'

*

Prompt by Muse Amusant: 'Molly's always viewed Arthur's obsession with Muggle objects with typical witchly scepticism... until her insatiably curious hubby gets his hands on a Lovehoney catalogue.'

Love Honey has just launched a Fifty Shades of Grey collection.